Nonstop Metropolis Rebecca Solnit, Joshua Jelly-Schapiro, 2016-10-19 This set explores the hidden histories of San Francisco, New Orleans, and New York City. With many contributors, each atlas addresses the multi-faceted nature of a city as experienced by numerous categories of inhabitants.

Here Anthony Depalma, 2002-09-23 The European conquerors who created New France, New Spain, and New England, thus sowing the seeds of Canada, Mexico, and the United States, shared the old world they all came from. Yet starting at roughly the same time in broadly the same place the three countries that grew up on the North American continent created their own very different versions of a new world. For half a millennium, these three universes existed side by side, sometimes warring with each other, often times at peace, yet separated by boundaries and prejudices far stronger than any customs stations or border posts could ever be. Then, almost exactly 500 years after Columbus stumbled into the new world, the harsh reality of a rapidly changing economic order, combined with the ineluctable tug of our own past, began to profoundly transform the relationship among the three American nations. As a New York Times correspondent in Mexico and Canada during the last turbulent decade—the first ever to report from both ends of America—Anthony DePalma had a unique perspective from which to observe and to define the momentous dawning of this uncertain new season in American history. In HERE: A Biography of the New American Continent he combines vivid, incisive reporting on intracontinental politics from the start of the North American Free Trade Agreement in 1993 through the dramatic triple national elections in 2000, with illuminating re-examinations of key historical events and fascinating stories of individuals to create a completely original, passionately rendered portrait of the new world in the new millennium. How did our three nations—11 nations of immigrants, sharing borders and intertwined histories—develop such different world views and senses of ourselves? How do we—accurately and inaccurately—interpret our shared history, and perceive each other? Who are we now, separately and as a continent, and where are we going? Why is it that most Americans still tend to view the United States as an island, and rarely consider that what happens there, means anything Here? DePalma considers these questions both as a journalist and through the lens of his own immigrant family's experiences. This book, he says, represents one American's journey across North America, one American's pursuit of a northern passage connecting our past with a future taking shape before our eyes. It is the chronicle of the first years of a new American continent, a biography of a place with special meaning for all 400 million Americans who live in Canada, Mexico and the United States. This book is also, in a sense, a biography of a single American—the grandson of immigrants who sought out America, son of a longshoreman who carried a piece of America on his back, husband to an immigrant who also came to look for America, and father to children who know foreign anthems as well as their own and whose day will want to know which America is theirs.

Left Bank of the Hudson David J. Goodwin, 2017 For nearly twenty years, a small, dedicated band of artists rented studio space at 111 1st Street, a former tobacco warehouse near the Hudson River waterfront in Jersey City, New Jersey. These artists eventually became engaged in a fight for their survival within the building and a city undergoing gentrification--

Eby, 2011-08-24 Cutting across the fields of psychology, management, education, counseling, social work, and sociology, The Blackwell Handbook of Mentoring reveals an innovative, multi-disciplinary approach to the practice and theory of mentoring. Sample Preparation Techniques in Analytical Chemistry Somenath Mitra, 2004-04-07 The importance of accurate sample preparation techniques cannot be overstated--meticulous sample preparation is essential. Often overlooked, it is the midway point where the analytes from the sample matrix are transformed so they are suitable for analysis. Even the best analytical techniques cannot rectify problems generated by sloppy sample pretreatment. Devoted entirely to teaching and reinforcing these necessary pretreatment steps, Sample Preparation Techniques in Analytical Chemistry addresses diverse aspects of this important measurement step. These include: * State-of-the-art extraction techniques for organic and inorganic analytes * Sample preparation in biological measurements * Sample pretreatment in microscopy * Surface enhancement as a sample preparation tool in Raman and IR spectroscopy * Sample concentration and clean-up methods * Quality control steps

Designed to serve as a text in an undergraduate or graduate level curriculum, Sample Preparation Techniques in Analytical Chemistry also provides an invaluable reference tool for analytical chemists in the chemical, biological, pharmaceutical, environmental, and materials sciences.

Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth David Driskell, 2017-07-28 Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth is a practical manual on how to conceptualize, structure and facilitate the participation of young people in the community development process. It is an important tool for urban planners, municipal officials, community development staff, non-governmental organizations, educators, youth-serving agencies, youth advocates, and others who are involved in the community development process. It offers inspiration to all who believe in the value of community education and empowerment as a fundamental building block of a vibrant and resilient civil society, and those who feel concern for young people and the quality of their lives. The manual's core ideas and methods have been field-tested in a wide range of urban settings in both developing and industrialized cities through the work of the UNESCO Growing Up in Cities project. Case studies from project sites help to demonstrate the methods in action and show how they can be customized to meet local needs. They provide lessons and insights to help ensure a successful project, and highlight the universal applicability and value of young people's participation.

Nature through Time Edoardo Martinetto, Emanuel Tschopp, Robert A. Gastaldo, 2020-07-27 This book simulates a historical walk through nature, teaching readers about the biodiversity on Earth in various eras with a focus on past terrestrial environments. Geared towards a student audience, using simple terms and avoiding long complex explanations, the book discusses the plants and animals that lived on land, the evolution of natural systems, and how these biological systems changed over time in geological and paleontological contexts. With easy-to-understand and scientifically accurate and up-to-date information, readers will be guided through major biological events from the Earth's past. The topics in the book represent a broad paleoenvironmental spectrum of interests and educational modules, allowing for virtual visits to rich geological times. Eras and events that are discussed include, but are not limited to, the much varied Quaternary environments, the evolution of plants and animals during the Cenozoic, the rise of angiosperms, vertebrate evolution and ecosystems in the Mesozoic, the Permian mass extinction, the late Paleozoic glaciation, and the origin of the first trees and land plants in the Devonian-Ordovician. With state-of-the art expert scientific instruction on these topics and up-to-date and scientifically accurate illustrations, this book can serve as an international course for students, teachers, and other interested individuals.

Neurotrauma Management for the Severely Injured Polytrauma Patient James M. Ecklund, Leon E. Moores, 2017-01-12 This text addresses many of the questions which occur when medical professionals of various disciplines interact and have different plans and interventions, each with its own valid scientific and/or experience-based rationale: Questions involving tourniquet placement, ideal fluids and volumes for resuscitation, VTE prophylaxis and many other management considerations. Straightforward decisions in the patient with a single diagnosis often conflict when applied to the neurologically injured polytrauma patients. Neurotrauma Management for the Severely Injured Polytrauma Patient answers as many of these questions as possible based on the current literature, vast experience with severe neurotrauma in the current conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq, and the experience of trauma experts across the globe as well as proposes areas for future study where answers are currently less clear.

Whitney Biennial 2022 David Breslin, Adrienne Edwards, 2022-04-26 Presenting the latest iteration of this crucial exhibition, always a barometer of contemporary American art The 2022 Whitney Biennial is accompanied by this landmark volume. Each of the Biennial's participants is represented by a selected exhibition history, a bibliography, and imagery complemented by a personal statement or interview that foregrounds the artist's own voice. Essays by the curators and other contributors elucidate themes of the exhibition and discuss the participants. The 2022 Biennial's two curators, David Breslin and Adrienne Edwards, are known for their close collaboration with living artists. Coming after several years of seismic upheaval in and beyond the cultural, social, and political landscapes, this catalogue will offer a new take on the storied institution of the Biennial while continuing to serve--as previous editions have--as an invaluable resource on present-day trends in contemporary art in the United States.

Recirculating Songs James William Wafer, Jim Wafer, Myfany Turpin, 2017 Print edition of multi-author work on Indigenous song. This is the first volume devoted specifically to the revitalisation of ancestral Indigenous singing practices in Australia. These traditions are at severe risk in many parts of the country, and this book investigates the strategies currently being implemented to reverse the damage. In some areas the ancestral musical culture is still transmitted across the generations; in others it is partially remembered, and being revitalised with the assistance of heritage recording and written documentation; but in many parts of Australia, the transmission of songs has been interrupted, and in those places revitalisation relies on research and restoration. The authors, Indigenous and non-Indigenous, consider these issues across a broad range of geographical locations, and from a number of different theoretical and methodological angles. The chapters provide helpful insights for Indigenous people and communities, researchers and educators, and anyone interested in the song traditions of Indigenous Australia.

Morristown John W. Rae, 2002 Morristown, New Jersey first earned its place in history during the Revolutionary War when General George Washington camped here with the Continental army, an event that led to the founding of the first National Historic Park in 1933. Morristown preserves history while keeping up with the times, often forging ahead of the pack and into the future. The Green-once a grazing ground for sheep and cattle-became the site of the first Morris County Courthouse and is still a thriving central gathering place for townspeople. Even many of the Morristown's municipal buildings tell of a past steeped in the Gilded Age, as today's citizens walk the halls once trod by millionaires. Morristown: A Military Headquarters of the American Revolution chronicles the many famous people connected to the area such as Benedict Arnold, who was tried here for treason. A landmark event of the communication industry also occurred here when Samuel Morse and Alfred Vail perfected the magnetic telegraph in a barn. This new volume invites readers for a ride through the past, with glimpses into the lives of one of the world's richest and least-known colonies of wealthy people, the hidden drama and sometime romance of a Revolutionary army camp, and the secret network of tunnels dug beneath the city during Prohibition.
